WHO WE ARE. The Building Commissioning Association (BCA) is an international nonprofit membership association that stands for high performance buildings and the professionals who make them work.

OUR VALUE PROPOSITION. The BCA provides technical and educational resources and a roadmap to innovation, quality benchmarks, and initiatives that are important to commissioning providers.

OUR PROMISE. We champion our members, advocate outstanding practice of whole building commissioning, and endorse certification programs that set the highest industry standards for commissioning professionals.

OUR FOCUS The BCA is dedicated to supporting its members in the following areas

Best Practices
We help define and identify building commissioning best practices, review industry standards and prepare and continuously update commissioning documentation for handbooks, promotion, field use, stakeholder knowledge and industry acceptance.

Professional Development
We create, implement and support education, training and workforce development for all commissioning stakeholders.

Promotion & Collaboration
We create, implement and participate in programs and events that engage the BCA in a way that positively affects the role of commissioning in the built environment with selected liaisons and marketing opportunities.

Leadership & Representation
We advance commissioning in the built environment by engaging with other industry stakeholders in facilitating and leading high-level discussions regarding the important topics related to commissioning.

Certification
We promote high standards of certifications as administered by the Building Commissioning Certification Board (BCCB) and provide support to them as they meet the needs of the stakeholders of the built environment.

We proudly offer the building industry’s longest-running annual conference on creating and sustaining the built environment, the National Conference on Building Commissioning (NCBC).
